The Bridgewater Treatises.

The late Earl of Bridgewater left by his Will £8000 to the President of the Royal Society, to be given to such Person or Persons, as he might appoint for writing a Work "On the Power, Wisdom, and Goodness of God as manifested in the Creation." a COMPLETE Edition of the POEMS and CORRESPONDENCE of

with a MEMOIR and PORTRAIT.

THE success which has attended the ALDINE EDITION of the POEMS OF BURNS has induced the Publisher to print a complete Collection of all that Poet's productions. With this object no expense has been spared in procuring Burns' Original Manuscripts; and the fact that the Publisher has in his possession nearly TWO HUNDRED LETTERS OF POEMS, IN BURNS' OWN HAND, must, it is confidently presumed, establish the superior claim of this edition of his Works to the attention of the Public. The MS. of the Poems afford many important variations, and in some cases even supply entire stanzas; whilst the MS. of the Letters prove, not only that Dr. Currie often suppressed important passages, but that he printed some of Burns' most interesting Letters in a mutilated and imperfect manner: hence in numerous instances the admirers of Burns will now, for the first time, have the gratification of reading his Letters, not as his Editors have thought proper to print, but as the Poet actually wrote them.

Vol. I and II. will contain the POEMS and SONGS OF BURNS, with a Memoir written for this edition, and Portrait.

Vol. III. will contain the CORRESPONDENCE OF BURNS. This Volume will be sold separately to complete the first Aldine edition.

. With the view of ensuring an accurate edition of the Works of Burns, the Publisher respectfully solicits of those Gentlemen who possess the Original MS. of any Letter or Poem of Burns, the favour of the loan of it for a few hours only. The MS. shall be returned with the greatest care and punctuality.

Shortly will be published,

P R E F A C E.

IN proportion to the advancement and general diffusion of literature ought to be the publication of references to, and accounts of, the multifarious works with which the genius of past and of the present times has enlightened and benefited mankind. BIBLIOGRAPHY, or a knowledge of particular books, the peculiarities of editions, their value, and what may be termed an intimate acquaintance with the history and character of a work, has, however, been singularly neglected in this country; and rich as our literature is in most departments, that particular class, on which all others are in a great degree dependent, is confessedly deficient. In France, Spain, Italy, Germany, and Holland, numerous volumes have been written on the literary history of those several countries, together with others on universal literature; but in England, excepting a few catalogues of books on particular subjects, no general Bibliographical work deserving the name was ever published until the appearance of the "Bibliotheca Britannica" by Watt, which will be again alluded to. It is not intended to explain the cause of the low state of Bibliographical knowledge in England; but it may, perhaps, be partly ascribed to the folly of acquiring, at enormous prices, works which are no otherwise valuable than for their rarity, consisting, as that rarity sometimes does, in a colophon or the name of a printer, the texture or colour of the paper, the width of the margin, the occurrence or omission of a date, or even in an obvious defect. Mankind are disposed to remember the abuse rather than the utility of pursuits in which few are deeply interested; and in the ridicule which the enthusiastic zeal of bibliomaniacs has cast on Bibliography, they lose sight of the fact, that all accurate knowledge is in a greater or less degree absolutely dependent thereon.

The accumulated wisdom of ages is deposited in Books; can there then be more useful information than that by which these repositories of knowledge are rendered available to the world by proper classification, separating the valuable from the worthless, and presenting the student with a convenient and trustworthy guide to the respective sources? Bibliography is in truth the mariner's compass of learning; for without it the student would be floating on the immense ocean of literature, with no other means than what chance afforded of attaining the object of his voyage. To pursue the simile, it may be said that the art of navigation is not more indispensable to a mariner than is a certain acquaintance with Bibliography to him who passes any part of his life in intellectual pursuits.

Dr. Johnson has observed, with his usual elegance and propriety, "by the means of Catalogues only can be known what has been written on every part of learning, and the hazard avoided of encountering difficulties which have already been cleared, discussing questions which have already been decided, and digging in mines of literature which former ages have exhausted;" but a bare Catalogue, though the most laborious, is the humblest part of a Bibliographer's duty. Mere industry may enable him to copy titles, names, and dates; but to classify and arrange works into the several divisions and subdivisions, which a student requires—to describe the merits of each work, and the peculiarity of each edition—to describe the true from the spurious edition—and to give such a collation of works which do not either by signatures, pagination, or otherwise, present the means of ascertaining whether it be complete or imperfect—to trace rare works from library to library, in order that those who wish to consult them may know where they are deposited—and to give the different prices at which books have at various times been sold, that an idea may be formed of their value—require a combination of talent, research, and industry, which entitle the labours of a Bibliographer to much more respect than has hitherto been conceded to them.

In thus stating the acquirements necessary for a Bibliographer, the Editor has in view rather to deprecate severity of criticism on whatever defects may be found in this work, than, with unseemingly presumption, to exaggerate the merits of its compilation. No one can be insensible to the errors which are incidental to the first edition of a work of this nature; for, as it is well remarked by Monsieur Renouard, whose reputation as a Bibliographer proves that he must be well aware of the difficulties incidental to the pursuit: "Si bien préparé soit-on, et quelques soins que l'on apporte à la composition d'un ouvrage bibliographique, il est encore presque impossible de ne pas laisser dans sa première publication une multitude d'erreurs, de lacunes, de suppositions, de mensonges involontaires."

After these imperfect observations on the utility and difficulties of Bibliography, the Editor will proceed to allude, in as few words as possible, to the plan and contents of Watt's "Bibliotheca Britannica," to show in what points these volumes supply information which is not contained in that valuable compilation. In speaking of the Bibliotheca Britannica, no praise can be too high; for, notwithstanding its imperfections, it contains a mass of most valuable matter, disposed in such form as to be of great assistance to persons desirous of ascertaining what works have been written on a particular subject, or by a particular author. It is obvious, however, that, from the very extensive plan adopted by Watt, his work must necessarily be incomplete in various points, which, though of minor detail, are of great importance. Thus, for instance, he gives neither the collation nor prices of books; nor does he afford a guide to the best authors on any particular subject, or to the best editions—information of the highest value to foreigners and students.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHER'S MANUAL was undertaken to supply a desideratum in English Literature, by presenting the Collector, the Author, and the Bookseller with a notice, in alphabetical order, under the names of their respective authors, of the principal works in the various departments of Divinity, Ecclesiastical and Civil History, more particularly of Great Britain, Biography, Voyages and Travels, Antiquities, Heraldry, Jurisprudence, Sciences, the Arts and Belles Lettres, &c.

It was stated in the prospectus that these notices would exceed twenty thousand; but as the Editor proceeded, he was insensibly compelled to extend the limits which he had prescribed to himself; and the work does, in fact, contain notices of upwards of fifty thousand distinct books, published in, or relating to, Great Britain and Ireland, from the invention of printing to the present time. He deceives himself, if this fact will not be deemed a sufficient apology for the work having exceeded what was originally contemplated. To these notices are annexed,

First, A concise account of the merits of the work, taken occasionally from Reviews, but more generally from writers of established reputation.

Secondly, Its peculiar bibliographical character, such as the mode in which it was originally published, its contents, limited number printed, rarity, whether the name of the author was real or fictitious, and occasionally supplying the name of the author of a work published anonymously; if an early work, to whom dedicated; the merits and variations of the different editions; where and when printed; also notices of reprints of rare works, and of tracts, whether in the Somers and Harleian Miscellanies, or similar publications, and likewise of those early Voyages and Travels which appear in Pinkerton, Churchill, Harleian and other Collections:—in a word, all those points which belong to the “history” of a book are stated.

Thirdly, Collations of the contents of the rarer and more important articles, including a list of the plates.

Fourthly, References to the number in the catalogues of celebrated sales, specifying the price for which the work was sold.

Upon the utility of this information it is scarcely necessary to insist: without a Manual of this nature the collector may indeed, as is happily remarked by a French Bibliographer, form a collection, but not a library, since the one consists simply of a mass of books purchased without knowledge or discrimination of subjects or editions; but a library, by which is meant a selection of the best writers, and of the best editions, depends more upon the erudition, judgment, and taste of the possessor, than upon his wealth or liberality.

No doubt can be entertained of the utility of attaching to the title of a book the opinion entertained of its merits by those who have undertaken to pronounce a critical opinion upon them, either in reference to the collector or to the student: to both they serve as a guide. But with respect to the various criticisms which will be found scattered throughout the work, the Editor wishes to be understood, that when no authority is given, he states the general character of the works, rather than offer an opinion of his own. In the case of works of a religious nature, the criticism will of course be understood as expressing the estimation in which the work is held by the particular sect to which the author belonged.

The importance of knowing the exact character of, and the difference between, the editions of any work, is well understood by authors and literary persons; but to more general readers it may be necessary to remark, that in each edition an author is presumed to have availed himself of the additional information, and to have corrected the errors, which the suggestions of critical journals, or of his friends, or his own studies, may have supplied. It is not, perhaps, too much to say, with respect to works on history, or consisting of a condensation of, or criticisms founded upon, mere facts, that no first edition is so perfect as its author is capable of rendering it. Until his labours are before him in print, and time has cooled the fervour of mind incidental to composition, he is scarcely competent to estimate, calmly and dispassionately, the value and bearing of the materials of which history is composed. A single additional fact, derived possibly from an obscure volume, or manuscript, which escaped his researches when his work was written, may overturn or confirm his most ingenious hypotheses. To works of imagination, novels, poetry, and the drama, the value of revision is almost as great—they supply as it were the last touches of the master; and in the second edition the author introduces those improvements which, (in an age when the Horatian precept has ceased to apply either in principle or practice) are rarely to be found in the first impression; whilst every subsequent reprint affords him the opportunity of imparting greater accuracy, more abundant information, and more elaborate polish to his lucubrations. Hence arises the immense superiority of a second edition over the first, of a third over a second, and thus in numerical progression of each over its predecessor. The claims which a first sometimes possesses over a later edition of a work consists chiefly of remarks which prudence or justice may have induced an author to cancel. A reference to the first edition of an early writer is however often essential in restoring the correct reading of a line or passage. If a typographical error is made in the second edition, it is almost certain to be perpetuated in succeeding impressions, from its being the practice to print each edition from the one which immediately preceded it. Moreover, there is a peculiarity about each edition of every work, which renders it imperative that it should be carefully referred to by an editor of the work: it may also happen that a first edition contains valuable extraneous matter, which a desire to impart more consistency to his labours, caused the author afterwards to omit. To those who write books, a knowledge of such peculiarities in editions is indispensable; and by those who only read them, but who are interested in the curiosities and technicalities of literature, the information will not be despised.

It is the duty of an author to know the history of the work which he consults: by making the statements it contains his authority, he, in some measure, adopts them as his own; and a Manual, which enables him to form an idea of the degree of credit that ought to be attached to the book before him, cannot fail to facilitate and benefit his labours. A critical examiner of his authorities, knows that the slightest fact—the date, the dedication, whether a private work or one intended for general circulation, for example—are points by which the credibility of a writer may, possibly, be impugned or confirmed.

By the Collations the buyer and seller are alike enabled to judge whether a book is perfect; hence disputes may, with slight trouble, be avoided: and although at first sight this may seem but a very trifling recommendation to a bibliographical work, where they are for the first time given, those who have collated even a single volume will at once believe that much time has been consumed in this object; and it is hoped they will agree with the Editor in thinking that it has not been thrown away.

The utility of stating the prices at which books have sold at public auctions, and thereby to give the public the means of judging of their value must be sufficiently obvious. Although no conclusion can be safely drawn from those prices, nor can they by any means be depended upon as a certain guide, still, the sums which books have produced at public sales will be referred to as authorities, and the variations in their value must prove a source of amusement from their indicating the changes which have taken place in caprice or taste.

It not unfrequently happens, that for some literary purpose, a person wishes to consult a particular book of great rarity, but is wholly at a loss to discover where a copy is to be found. In the instances of uncommon works, the editor has stated if it is in the British Museum, in the Bodleian, or other public Library; and should a copy have been sold by auction within the present century, a reference is usually given to the number in the catalogue in which it is mentioned, thus affording a clue to its present possessor.

It is due to his own labours that the Editor should state that this is the first attempt in England to supply these various points of Bibliographical information in one work; and though the celebrated “Manuel du Libraire” of Brunet has served as his model, that valuable compilation is extremely imperfect in relation to British literature.

The Editor is sensible of an objection to which his work is liable from the circumstance of many books, which may be considered worthless, being noticed, merely because they have occasionally brought large prices at public sales; but, as he might have incurred still greater blame, had he omitted them, he has preferred admitting a few whose claim to a place might be disputed, than leaving out any work to which an ideal value has been attached, remembering the remark of Johnson, "that no book is so worthless as not to contain something good." It is also to be remembered, that scarcely any two persons agree in their estimation of a book, and that their taste and judgment are influenced by their attachment to particular pursuits. On the other hand, he is sensible that he may unconsciously have omitted articles of importance, more especially very recent publications, from the difficulty of keeping pace with the daily productions of the press. For these, and all other omissions, he trusts to the candour of his readers: all who have had occasion to search for information on a particular subject, must be aware that much valuable matter has escaped them, notwithstanding the most careful inquiries.

It would be a waste of time to name the particular sources which have been consulted. A single glance will, the Editor flatters himself, ensure credence to his statement, that many hundreds of volumes have been constantly referred to, and that, in numerous instances, the books noticed have been carefully examined. The merit of indefatigable industry will not, he hopes, be denied him; and though his labours have not required either genius or splendid talents, he, nevertheless, trusts that he may be deemed a safe and useful pioneer to the present and future explorers of the inexhaustible mines of British Literature. The traveller well knows the importance of a road-book and direction posts; the mariner is equally sensible of the value of charts and beacons; and the youthful and ardent literary husbandman, on entering the immeasurable fields of knowledge, will soon learn from the assurances of the veteran labourer, as well as from his own experience, that his progress will be painful, his success uncertain, without the assistance which, the Editor humbly hopes, these volumes will supply.

The little that remains to be said is an acknowledgment, the sincerity of which must supply its deficiency in expression, of the Editor's gratitude to the numerous friends by whose kind assistance and advice his labours have been at once cheered and benefited; more particularly

To the Right Honourable THOMAS GRENVILLE, who is no less the master of the contents, than of the property of his books, and who, in the most obliging manner, tendered him the use of his splendid library, as well as of his interesting catalogues, with which, it may be hoped, he may be induced to favour the public.

In common with most persons interested in literary pursuits, the Editor is under many obligations to PHILIP AUGUSTUS HANROTT, Esq. to whose late curious and extensive library liberal access was always afforded him.

To Messrs. PAYNE and FOSS, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. PICKERING, and especially Mr. RODD, for their constant advice and most useful suggestions, he is eminently obliged.

To Mr. R. H. EVANS he is particularly indebted for many valuable hints, and for the loan of the sale catalogues of the numerous important libraries which have passed through his hands, which exhibit a profound knowledge of his profession.—To Messrs. SOTHEYBY he begs to return his thanks for access to their extensive series of catalogues.

Gratitude demands a strong acknowledgment to the late WILLIAM MEREDITH, Esq., under whose hospitable roof this Manual was commenced in the year 1820. By the late RICHARD HEBER, Esq., (who, as a collector, united the judgment of a Cotton with the princely munificence of a Harley,) he was honoured with approbation and encouragement, and with the offer of access to his immense literary treasures.

1st January, 1834.

FOREIGN LITERATURE.

Dr. Dibdin, in the seventh volume of the Catalogue of the magnificent Library of Earl Spencer, quotes the following remarks of M. Ebert, the celebrated German Bibliographer: 'Let us be told what real advantage has accrued to learning from the SPENCER LIBRARY, which has been extolled to satiety, . . . or the collections of other [English] Bibliomanes? Not so much as to enable the Nation, otherwise so mercantile, to produce a Manuel du Libraire of its own, of which, from their constant buying, they are hourly in need,' &c. This reproach is, to some extent, it is to be hoped, removed by the BIBLIOGRAPHER'S MANUAL, and the Editor begs to announce his intention of publishing a similar work on Foreign Literature.

Annual Register, from its commencement in 1758 to 1790 inclusive, 32 vols. Continuation published by Otridge, Baldwin, and others, 1791—1827 inclusive, 37 vols., and Index from 1758 to 1819. 1 vol. London, 8vo. 70 vols.

This valuable publication originated with Robert Dodsley, at the suggestion of Mr. Burke, who was for some years the principal contributor.

In the years 1790, the copyright and stock from 1758 to that year were sold: the stock was purchased by Otridge and other booksellers; the copyright of the same series by the Rivingtons. Since that period each party have published continuations.

Some sets of the work have been made up by substituting Rivington's continuation, with fictitious titles. How to distinguish the substitution may be ascertained by referring to the preface of the General Index published by Baldwin, &c. 1826, 8vo. price 1l. 4s.

This continuation has the character of being more carefully compiled than that published by Otridge and others. A general index, 1758—80, was published by Dodsley, 1783, and another, 1781—92, by the Rivingtons, 1799.

An esteemed version by the translator of Plato and Aristotle. Some copies of the small, and all the large paper copies, have suppressed passages, generally placed at the end of the volume.

This opinion, however, has been contested by Dr. Lardner.

 to the edition of 1562, omitted in that of — Thomas, C. Dormant and Extinct Baronage of England, from the Norman Conquest to year 1809. London, 1807—9. 4to. 3 vols.

A work of no merit. The greater part of its contents was copied from Dugdale's Baronage, but as many of that writer's most important statements, and all his references to his authorities are omitted, it is of infinitely less value. The account of titles created since Dugdale wrote, is chiefly taken from Collins. An appendix is annexed to the Stemmata Anglicana. Brockett, 466, 31. 4s. Duke of York, 488, 31. 11s. — LARGE PAPER, 51. 5s.

— Genealogical and biographical History of the dormant and extinct Peerage of England, from the Norman Conquest; including the Regal Families anterior to the House of Brunswick. Lond. 1812. 8vo. Vol. i. 10s.

This volume is the only one which appeared of an intended new edition in six octavo volumes, of the Dormant and Extinct Barorage. It commences (p. 1 to 145) with a genealogical account of the Extinct Royal Families of England, which is a useful compilation from Sandford, and other expensive works, though by no means remarkable for accuracy or research. The titles of Peerage treated of, extend in alphabetical order from Abergavenny to Banbury, (p. 148 to the end,) and present the best of the various specimens of the author's genealogical abilities. The elaborate notice of the singular claim to the Banbury Peerage would alone render this volume of some value, as the printed cases, whence it was compiled, may not be easily procured.'

BANKS, Thomas C. Stemmata Anglicana; or, a miscellaneous Collection of Genealogy. London, 1825. 4to. 3l. 3s.

This volume commences with a treatise of little merit on the various dignities of Peerage, and the manner of establishing claims to them. The only valuable part of the work is that entitled "Barones Rejetti," being an account of individuals who appear to have held the rank of Barons, but who are not noticed by other writers, which in many instances exhibit proofs of considerable research. The History of Extinct Royal Families, p. 296 to 456, is a literal reprint of what appeared in the volume last mentioned. The appendix contains "Additions and Emendations to the author's Dormant and Extinct Baronage, with Indexes," but it is not deserving of much attention, the corrections being very few, and the indexes extremely bad. LARGE PAPER, 5l. 5s. Some copies are entitled 'A genealogical History of divers Families of the ancient Peerage of England.' 1826.

— History of the ancient noble Family of Marmyun; their office of King's Champion, &c. Lond. 1817. 8vo. 10s. 6d. 4to. 1l. 1s.

A very imperfect work. Mr. Banks is the author of some other publications of a similar nature, but they are unworthy of being particularly mentioned.

Cum Apparatu, Appendicibus, Tabulis, variis Lectionibus, Annotationibus, Indicibus, etc. Edidit Brianus Walton; S. T. D. Lond. 1657. folio, 6 vols. with portrait by Lombart.

'All the preceding Polyglots, were ~~comp~~ sed in use and excellence, if not in splendour and size, by that which is called the English and London Polyglot.'—Carpovius.

The last leaf but one of the preface is cancelled in many copies, in which mention is made of the Protector in these words: 'Primo autem commemorandi quorum favore chartam a vectigalibus immunem habuimus, quod quinque adhuc annis (1652) a concilio secretorio primò concessum, postea a serenissimo D. PROTECTORE ejusque consilio, operis promovendi causa, benignè confirmatum et continuatum erat, quibus, &c. In the loyal copies the clause is altered and the words 'Sereniss. PRINCEPS D. CAR. LUDOV. pr. PALATIN.' are found. In some copies are found a dedication to King Charles II, (reprinted 1811, folio) and 'An advertisement to the Subscribers and others, unto whom any copies of the first volume of the Bible shall be delivered,' which latter has been reprinted by Todd in his life of Walton, p. 68, and by Dr. Dibdin in his Introduction to the Greek and Latin Classics, pp. 22-3.

In the Apparatus Criticus is a treatise entitled 'Explicatio Idiotismorum, seu Proprietatum Linguae Hebraicæ et Græcæ quæ sæpius in Scripturis occurrant', in which the author asks, in what manner the sense of scripture is to be determined. Over the fourth and fifth answers (in most copies) a paper, containing other fourth and fifth answers, is pasted.

To complete, says Mr. Horne, the London Polyglott, the following publications should be added. 1. Paraphrasis Chal- daica in Librum priorem et posteriorem Chronicorum, Auctore Rabbi Josepho, cum Versiona Latina a Davide Wilkins. Amst. 1715, 4to. 2. Dr. Castell's Lexicon Heptaglotton. The purchaser should also procure Dr. John Owen's Considerations on the Polyglott, 1658. 8vo. Bishop Walton's reply, entitled 'The Considerator Considered,' &c. 1659. 8vo. and a most important work Walton's Introductio ad Lectionem Linguarum Orientalium, &c. Lond. 1654. 18mo. Of the latter work one hundred copies were reprinted 1815, in folio, of which 97 were destroyed by fire in March 1822. Of the three copies saved one was presented by Mr. Bagster to the British Museum, one to the Rev. M. Todd, and the other is in the publisher's possession.

For further information respecting this valuable Polyglott, consult Horne's Crit. Introd. to the Scriptures, ii. appendix, 28—30. Todd's Memoirs of Bishop Walton. Clarke's Bibliogr. Dictionary, i. 248—70. Butler's Horæ Bibl. i. 138—49. Dr. Dibdin's Introduction to the Classics. Third edition, i. 13—27.

In 1797, the Rev. Josiah Pratt issued 'A Prospectus, with Specimens of a New Polyglott Bible, in Quarto,' and in 1799, another 'Prospectus, with Specimens of an octavo Polyglott Bible;' but for want of encouragement the design has not been carried into execution. A similar fate has attended 'The Plan and Specimen of Biblia Polyglotta Britannica,' published and circulated by the Rev. Adam Clarke, LL.D. in 1810, in folio, reprinted in the Classical Journal, iv. 498—7.

This polyglot, published by Mr. Bagster, comprises the original Hebrew text of the Old Testament, the Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint Greek Version of the Old Testament, the Vulgate Latin, and the authorised English version of the entire Bible, the original Greek text of the New Testament, and the venerable Peschito or old Syriac Version of it. A good account of the plan of this Polyglot, may be seen in Todd's Memoirs of Bishop Walton, i. 365—9.

Of this edition no perfect copy exists, the whole were destroyed by fire in March, 1822, at Mr. Bagster's, excepting 23 copies of the New Testament.

Biblia Sacra Polyglotta. Londini, 1828. folio, 8l. 8s.

This work bears the title of "Bagster's London Polyglott Bible," and presents 8 Languages at each opening of the volume. It comprises the Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint Greek version of the Old Testament, the Vulgate Latin, Diodati's Italian, Scio's Spanish, Osterwald's French, Luther's German, and the authorised version of the English Bible, the original Greek text of the New Testament, and the venerable Paschiti, or old Syrian version of it.

Biblia Hebraica (sine punctis) accurate Nath. Forster. Oxon. 1750. 4to. 3l. 3s.

This is the first edition of the Hebrew Bible, except that in the Polyglot, printed in England. It has however been highly censured by Masch, though Dr. Adam Clarke, pronounces it to be 'the most elegant and correct of the Anti-Masoretic Bibles.' LARGE PAPER, 5l. 5s.

— The old Testament, English and Hebrew, with Remarks critical and grammatical on the Hebrew, and Corrections of the English, by Anselm Bayly, LL.D. London, 1774. royal 8vo. 4 vols. 3l. 10s.

An useful edition of the Masoretic Hebrew text for those desirous of learning Hebrew. The Hebrew is printed in long lines on the left hand page; and the authorised English version on the right hand page, divided into two columns. The critical notes, which are few, are placed under the English text.

— Vetus Testamentum Hebraicum, cum variis Lectionibus, edidit Benj. Kennicott. Oxonii, 1776-80. folio, 2 vols. 7l. 17s 6d.

This edition of the Hebrew Bible is, according to the learned Dr. Henry Owen, 'a work which contains, with all its imputed defects, a vast treasure of Hebrew learning; which, judiciously applied, will contribute more to rectify and restore the Hebrew text than all the methods hitherto practised.' It has also been pronounced by one of the most wary of German critics to be 'a first rate and even unique ornament of a theological collection.' Sir M. M. Sykes, pt. i. 471, morocco, 8l. 8s. Gossett, 500, russia, 9l. 19s. 6d. For a further account of this splendid work see Bishop Marsh's Divinity Lectures, part ii. pp. 105-8. Monthly Review, vol. lv. 92—100, lxi. 173—82, 321—8, and lxx. 121—31. To Dr. Kennicott's Hebrew Bible, M. de Rossi published an important supplement in 4 vols. 4to. printed at Parma, 1784-7, entitled, Variae Lectiones Veteris Testamenti.—See KENNICOTT, B.

Biblia Hebraica, or the Hebrew Scriptures of the old Testament, without Points, after the Text of Kennicott, with various Readings, and English Notes, by B. Boothroyd, D.D. Pontefract, 1810—16. 4to. 2 vols. 3*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.*

This edition, according to Mr. Horne, 'is peculiarly interesting to the Hebrew scholar and critic, as it contains, in a condensed form, the substance of the most valuable and expensive works. The type is very clear, and the poetical parts of the Hebrew Scriptures are printed in hemistichs, according to the arrangement proposed by Bp. Lowth, and adopted by Abp. Newcome.' There are copies on Large Paper in royal quarto.

— Biblia Hebraica, ad Editionem Vanderhooght, à J. S. C. F. Frey. Londini, 1812. 8vo. 2 vols. 2*l.* 2*s.*

This edition is in no estimation, and is said to be very incorrect. ROYAL PAPER, 3*l.* 3*s.*

— Biblia Hebraica, Versibus, Capitibus, et Sectionibus interstructa. Londini, 1822 and 1826. 12mo. 1*l.* 1*s.*

Another edition was printed without the points, 1*l.* 1*s.* Both are on the basis of Vanderhooght's, and owe their character for accuracy to the talent and assiduity of Messrs. H. Jacob and J. Dallemande. The various readings of the Hebrew and Samaritan Pentateuch are given, together with the Masoretic notes, termed Keri and Ketib. To some copies an English version will be found opposite, in others a French, &c. An English and Hebrew edition of the Old Testament was published by Baggot, 1826, 12mo. 1*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.*

— The Bible in the Arabic Language. Newcastle-upon-Tyne, 1811. 4to. 18*s.*

collated for this edition, viz. 1. That brought by the Rev. Dr. Buchanan from Travancore, in the East Indies. 2. Another belonging to the Rev. Dr. Adam Clarke. 3. One of the Syriac Pentateuch, in the Library of New College, Oxford.

— Vetus Testamentum Græcum, ex Versione LXX. Interpretum. In S. Biblia Græca Scholia, &c. Novi Testamenti Libri omnes Græce. Londini, 1653. 8vo. 3 vols. in 1. 10*s.* 6*d.*

This edition, printed by Roger Daniel, which professes to follow accurately the Roman edition of 1586, has been severely handled by Walton, Bos, Masch and Harles. According to Mr. Horne, the editors have altered and interpolated the text in several places, in order to bring it nearer to the Hebrew text, and the modern versions. 4to. edition. A copy of this first edition of the Scriptures from the Scottish press is in the Advocates' Library at Edinburgh. The old Testament consists of 503 double pages; the new of 125 double pages. Prefixed is a dedication to K. James VI. in the Scottish language. "A briefe Table of the Interpretation of the Prope Names, which are chiefly founde in the Olde Testament." The Romane Calendare, compared with the Hebrew Calendare. "Rules for understanding this double Calendare," by R(obert) Pont; some verses on, and a prayer for the true use of the Scriptures; then follows "A description and successe of the Kinges of Juda and Jerusalem."

The Bibles printed during the time of the Commonwealth, have been generally reputed to be full of errors:—In a tract entitled 'The London Printer his Lamentation; or the Press oppressed or overpressed, 1660'. 4to. (reprinted in the Harleian Miscellany), it is said, that Bill and Barker had contrived to get into their possession 'ever since the sixth of March 1655, the manuscript copy of the last translation of the Holy Bible in English, attested with the hands of the venerable and learned translators in King James's time.' And that having thus secured themselves from instant detection, they published editions filled with 'egregious blasphemies and damnable errata.'—Dr. Cotton.

'A literary phenomenon of a curious nature; a priest of the Romish church, resident in England, translating the scriptures into our native tongue, and publicly maintaining, against two Protestants, Dr. Vices. Knox, and the writer in the Monthly Review for January, 1797, the great utility of a new English translation, in preference to that made a hundred and eighty years ago.' — Ahp. Newcome. Of the Doctor's heterodox commentaries and version, the reader, says Mr. Horne, may see an ample examination and refutation in the 4th, 14th, 19th, and 20th volumes of the British critic. This examination is attributed to Bp. Horsley.

Beautiful editions, with short explanatory notes, and philological scholia. According to Mr. Horne, Mr. Reeves's notes are selected with great judgment from the labours of Patrick, Lowth, Whitby, and others; and his mode of printing the text is admirable. The historical parts, which are in prose, are printed in contiguous paragraphs, and the poetical parts are divided into verses. Each book is divided into sections, conformable to the natural divisions of the several subjects; and to facilitate reference, the chapters and verses are distinctly pointed out in the margin. An edition, without notes, 8vo. 4 vols. 14s. FINE PAPER, 18s.

This work, which may be pronounced a library of divinity, was published under the sanction of the venerable Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge. Upwards of 30,000 copies have been sold. Of the labour attending this publication, some idea may be formed, when it is stated, that the works of upwards of 160 authors have been consulted for it, amounting to several hundred volumes. There is a useful concordance in 4to. edited by the Rev. T. W. Bellamy, M.A. which is usually bound up with this commentary: and in the year 1818, the Rev. Dr. Wilson, published an index, much more complete than that annexed to the work.

— The Bible, newly translated from the original Hebrew, with Notes critical and explanatory, by John Bellamy. London, 1818—21. 4to. Parts I. II. III.

The arrogant claims of the author and his extravagancies of interpretation, have been exposed in the Quarterly Review, xix. 250-80, 446-60, and xxiii. 287-325; in the Eclectic Review, N. S. x. 1—20, 130-50, 280-89; in the Anti-Jacobin Review, liv. 97-103, 193-207, 305-16; in Mr. Whittaker's Enquiry into the Interpretation of the Hebrew Scriptures, and Supplement. Cambridge, 1819 20; in Professor Lee's Letter to Mr. Bellamy. Cambridge, 1821; and last, though not least in value, in Mr. Hyman Hurwitz's Vindiciæ Hebraicæ.—Horne. — The Bible, with original Notes, practical Observations, and copious Marginal References. By Thomas Scott. London, 1822. 4to. 6 vols.

Fifth and best edition, stereotyped; the largest work ever submitted to that process. Mr. Horne deems it 'an act of bare justice to state, that he has never consulted this elaborate commentary in vain on difficult passages in the Scriptures. And in every instance, especially in the Pentateuch, he found, in Mr. Scott's Commentary, brief but solid refutations of alleged contradictions, which he could find in no other similar work extant in the English Language.'

— The Holy Bible, translated from the Latin Vulgate, with Annotations, References, and an historical and chronological Index. The whole revised and diligently compared with the Latin Vulgate. Dublin and London, 1825. 8vo.

This, says Mr. Horne, is the latest and most easily accessible edition of the Anglo-Romish version of the Bible. It has been altered for the better, and made conformable to our Protestant authorised version, in several instances, which had been stigmatised by Romanists as heretical. See Hamilton's Observations on the Present State of the Roman Catholic English Bible, pp. 19—21.

— The Cottage Bible and Family Expositor, with practical Reflexions and short explanatory Notes, by Thomas Williams. London, 1825-7. 8vo. 3 vols.

This unassuming but cheap and useful commentary on the Holy Scriptures, though professedly designed for persons and families in the humbler walks of life, is not unworthy the attention of students of a higher class, who may not be able to purchase more bulky or more expensive commentaries. The fine paper copies are handsome library books.—Horne.

This work, according to Dr. Doddridge, 'gives many well chosen instances of passages in the classics, which may justify many of those in Scripture that have been accounted solecisms. They illustrate the beauty of many others, and contain good observations on the divisions of chapters and verses, by which the sense of scripture is often absurd.'

'Blackwall was a strenuous advocate for the purity of the Greek style of the New Testament, which he vindicates in his first volume. The second volume, which is most valuable, contains many excellent observations on the division of the New Testament into chapters and verses, and also on various readings. The work was translated into Latin by Christopher Woll, and published at Leipsic in 1736, 4to.—Horne.

This work was first written in German, thence translated into Latin, and then into French. The design was to ridicule the prevailing follies and vices of every rank and profession, under the allegory of a ship freighted with fools, and in his metrical translation, Barclay has given a variety of characters drawn exclusively from his own countrymen, and added his advice to the various fools, which possesses at least, the merits of good sense and sound morality.

BURTON, Robert. Anatomy of Melancholy. The eleventh Edition corrected; to which is prefixed, an Account of the Author. [Edited by Du Bois.] London, 1806. 8vo. 2 vols. with frontispieces.

A work once almost forgotten, which owed its revival to the inordinate praise of Dr. Johnson, who observed that it 'was the only book that ever took him out of bed two hours sooner than he wished to rise.' From this storehouse of learning, intermingled with quaint observations and witty illustrations, many modern writers have drawn amply, without acknowledgment, particularly Sterne, who has in the most barefaced manner, copied the best of his pathetic, as well as humorous passages.

A good translation of a valuable and well known work. The 31st Edition 1818. 12mo. 2s. Mr. Abernethy, in his excellent Work on the digestive Organs, &c. makes the following observations:— 'It would be well if the Public would follow the advice of Mr. Addison, given in the Spectator (no. 195), on reading the writings of Lewis Cornaro, who having naturally a weak constitution, which he seemed to have ruined by intemperance, so that he was expected to die at the age of thirty-five, did at that period adopt a strict regimen, allowing himself only twelve ounces of food daily. By this plan of diet he lived to more than one hundred years; and it is delightful to observe the tranquil, cheerful, and energetic state of mind accompanying his bodily health, and in a great measure induced by it.' Sir John Sinclair in his Code of Health and Longevity, mentions an edition of 1779, as the best English translation of Cornaro's works.

CROCE, Giovanni. Musica sacra. 1608. 6 pts. complete. 2l. 2s.

Croce is highly commended by Morley; and Peacham in his English Gentleman says that for a full, lofty and sprightly vein, he was second to none; he adds, that while he lived, he was one of the most free and brave companions in the world. Nevertheless his compositions are all of a devout and serious kind, and of these his Penitential Psalms, which have been printed with English words, are the best.—Hawkins.
